ORAL JUDGEMENT

1. By way of this petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India the petitioner - detenu Thakor Rekhujji Chenji has brought under challenge the detention order dated 19th April 1996 rendered by respondent No.1 u/s.3(1) of the Gujarat Prevention of Anti-Social Activities Act, 1985 (Act No. 16 of 1985), hereinafter referred to as "the PASA Act".

2. The grounds on which the impugned order of detention has been passed appear at Annexure : B (Page : 12) to this petition. They inter-alia indicate that the petitioner has been carrying on criminal and anti-social activities by storing and transporting the country liquor and two offences of 1993, two offences of 1994 and four offences of 1995 (the last being dated 7.12.1995) have been registered against the petitioner in Sidhpur Police Station under the relevant provisions of the Bombay Prohibition Act. The Detaining Authority has come to the conclusion that the petitioner had been carrying on the aforesaid illegal activities and also creating an atmosphere of fear affecting adversely public order as also public health.

3. I have heard the learned Advocate for the petitioner and the learned G.P./A.G.P. for the State.

4. The petitioner has challenged the aforesaid order of detention on number of grounds, inter alia, on the ground of delay inasmuch as the cases and the incidents which have been relied upon relate back to the previous year, viz. 1995 (7.12.1995). Although there is no Affidavit in Reply to the aforesaid ground of delay which appears in Para : 10 of the petition, it has been submitted on behalf of the respondents that the delay would stand explained by the fact that the witnesses have given their statement regarding the petitioner's activity on or around 30.1.1996. However, the fact remains that the cases as also the incident referred to in the statement of witnesses relate back to the year 1995 (7.12.1995, in which case he has been released on bail on 8.1.1996) and not later than 30.1.96. The detention order is dt. 19.4.96. In the context of such facts reliance has been placed on the decision of the Honourable Supreme Court in the case of P.N.Paturkar V/s. S. Rama Murti, reported in A.I.R. 1994 SC 656. There the reference has made to an earlier decision of the Apex Court in the case of A.T.Abdul Rehman V/s. State of Kerala, reported in (1989) 4 SCC 741 : AIR 1990 SC 225. Following observations have been quoted :

"The question whether the prejudicial activities of a person necessitating to pass an order of detention is proximate to the time when the order is made or the live-link between the prejudicial activities and the purpose of detention is snapped depends on the facts and circumstances of each case. No hard and fast rule can be precisely formulated that would be applicable under all circumstances and no exhaustive guidelines can be laid down in that behalf. It follows that the test of proximity is not a rigid or mechanical test by merely counting number of months between the offending acts and the order of detention. However, when there is undue and long delay between the detention order, the Court has to scrutinise whether the detaining authority has satisfactorily examined such a delay and afforded a tenable and reasonable explanation as to why such a delay has occasioned, when called upon to answer and further the Court has to investigate whether the causal connection has been broken in the circumstances of each case."

In the case before the Supreme Court there was a delay of five months and eight days from the date of registration of the last case and of more than four months from the submission of the proposal. The statements were obtained only after the detenu became successful in getting bail in all the cases registered against him. In so far as the present case is concerned, the facts as noted above speak for themselves. The result is that the decision in P.N.Paturkar's case (supra) would be applicable to the facts of the present case.

6. There are other grounds of challenge levelled against the impugned order of detention. However, in view of the fact that the petitioner would succeed directly on the strength of decision of P.N.Paturkar (supra), it is not necessary to deal with the other grounds. Hence, following order is passed :

The impugned order of detention is hereby quashed and set aside. The petitioner-detenu Thakor Rekhuji Chenji shall be forthwith set at liberty if he is not required to be detained in any other case. Rule made absolute accordingly.
